

MINERS ESCAPE DEATH TRAP

CANADA MAY FIGHT WHEAT TARIFF PLAN

TARIFF BODY OPENS PROBE OF RELATIONS

Considers Demand of 50 Per Cent Increase of Present Tariff of Wheat

INQUIRY TO BE BROAD

One Obstacle Is Method of Obtaining Cents or Production on Canadian Wheat

Washington, Nov. 26.—Wheat growers, millers and others whose interests are involved attended the opening today of the tariff commission's first public hearing in connection with the inquiry into the wheat tariff.

Their views were sought by the commission as supplemental to the cost data and other information to be obtained by its field experts as a basis for recommendation to be made to President Coolidge on the appeal of the Wheat Council of the United States for an increase of 50 percent in the present wheat duty of 30 cents a bushel.

Plans for the latter phase of the inquiry for which the commission already has laid the ground work will be considered further at a conference of its staff of experts at St. Paul, December 3. Vice-Chairman Culbertson, who is in charge of the task of gathering data on production and manufacturing costs from growers and millers will attend the conference. The actual field work will be undertaken immediately on the formulation of definite plans there.

Means of obtaining production and marketing costs on Canadian wheat which forms the chief competition in the domestic market also is expected to be considered at the St. Paul conference. Although there has been indication that members of the commission expect to experience difficulties in this connection the feeling prevails in some quarters that Canadian officials may not welcome a general inquiry into the subject in that country.

SALESMAN IS HELD AFTER BIG ROBBERY

Persons Identify Picture of Him as One of Those Taking Part in Holdup

New York, Nov. 26.—Barlow Morris Diamond, Brooklyn salesman, who was arrested last night in the Hotel Statler in Cleveland as one of three hold up men who shot to death two employees of the West End Bank Nov. 14 and escaped with $43,000 in cash arrived today under heavy guard to face witnesses who police say have identified his picture as that one of the holdup men.

In the murder and robbery Wm. S. Barlow, retired police sergeant, and Wm. H. McLaughlin, war veteran employed by the bank were shot down without the slightest warning. The two assailants escaped in an automobile. In Diamond's pocket at the time of his arrest was found a loaded revolver and $2,200 mostly in $20 bills, the denomination of a large part of the money stolen.

The prisoner once served a term of six months in Connecticut for grand larceny. Diamond who is 28, a widower and the father of a five year old boy, was at one time one of the best known athletes in Brooklyn high school.

THEY'RE STILL TRAVELING

A. Y. Gowen and wife have a hard time getting their bearing on dry land. First, it was their two-year cruise around the world in "The Speedjacks," a 90-foot motor yacht. Then it was a trip to the Orient. Here they are coming down the ganplank of the Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Russia, on their return. But this time, it was a business trip, Gowen explains.

LIGNITE RATE FIGHT TAKES BROAD BASIS

Will Involve History of Rates and Economic Influence of the Industry

BOOST MEANS LOSS

The fight against an increase in lignite freight rates from North Dakota coal mines is expected by those discussing the preparation of the case to assume a broad aspect, including the effect of the lignite industry upon the economic life of the Northwest thus far and the possible greater effect in the future if the industry is properly nurtured.

The case is expected to involve first of all the history of lignite freight rates, and the relation of these rates to the growth of the industry, and in this connection the history of the industry's development. This would include a study and statement of how lignite displaced hundreds of thousands of tons of bituminous and hard coal throughout the Northwest last year when coal was scarce and high in price, excepting lignite.

A number of public utilities in the state and many individuals and other corporations have within the last year, spent considerable money equipping plants to burn lignite coal. This has been one direct result of the common boosting effort for the industry. The Western Electric Company of Jamestown is now spending $25,000 in equipping its plant to burn lignite, and the Northern States Power Company has spent a great deal of money in this manner in Minn.

Whether or not the Interstate Commerce Commission will grant the request of the state railroad commission for a joint hearing on the lignite freight rates is not yet known, but if the request is granted the state commission will cease to become a protagonist in the case and assume a judiciary role, leaving the presentation of arguments in defense of present rates to its new traffic expert, E. M. Hendricks.

All departments of state that can cooperate in the defense of the present rates and in an attack on the proposed increase rates are expected to become active. First Assistant Attorney-General George Thorpe will act as legal adviser for the traffic department of the state railroad commission.

CHILLY BREEZE SWEEPS CITY

Chilly breezes swept Bismarck last night but a sun which warmed the atmosphere somewhat during the day today made up for it, and served to keep up Bismarck's reputation for being in the "banana belt" of North Dakota. For while the eastern and northeastern parts of the state have had snow and blizzards, Bismarck has been bathed in sunshine most of the time.

It was 74 above here Sunday night, 14 above at Williston and 24 above at Moorhead. One point on the weather map, Prince Albert reported 4 below.

The forecast was for rising temperature Tuesday.

BREAD-SAVING HABITS OF WAR CUT WHEAT USE

Department of Agriculture Experts Find it One Cause of Wheat Surplus

INJURES PRODUCERS

Washington, Nov. 26.—Needless continuation of bread-saving habits formed in war-time, Department of Agriculture officials declared in a statement issued today, is limiting American wheat consumption to the disadvantage of both producer and consumer. A return to pre-war food habits in the use of wheat by the public and the feeding of low-grade wheat to livestock would help greatly toward solving the wheat problem, the experts say.

The wide disparity between the cost of bread to the consumer and the price received by the producer for the wheat from the wheat from which it is made is cited by the department as a typical illustration of the disproportionate relationship which exists between the price of farm products and the price of manufacturing process.

"The price of bread in cities has not fallen with the price of wheat and flour," says the statement. "A pound loaf of bread which in Minneapolis in 1913 and 1914 cost 5.3 cents now costs approximately 9.0 cents while flour which in 1913 and 1914 cost $4.45 a barrel now costs $6.89 a barrel. Allowing 280 loaves to the barrel the margin between the flour price and the bread price has increased from $10.50 to $18.80. It is obvious that such conditions, however caused, work to the disadvantage of both producers and consumers. Producers are injured by high prices which enforce an economic limitation in the use of an essential food. All interests in the country, including those of the bakers and millers, would be benefited by a more normal ratio between the price of wheat when it leaves the farmer's hands and the price to the final consumer."

BANKS CLOSED

St. Paul, Nov. 26.—Four Starns county state banks were closed today by the state banking department. They are the Farmers State Bank of Meire Grove, the New Munich State Bank of New Munich, the Security State Bank of Meire Grove and the state bank of St. Martin.

GROUP FIGHTS APPROVAL OF TURK TREATY

Leading Citizens Meet to Frustrate U. S. Approval of Lausanne Pact

REASONS ARE CITED

Former Ambassador to Germany Gerard Is One of The Leaders

New York, Nov. 26.—An organized movement to frustrate ratification of the Lausanne treaty by the United States senate was undertaken at the Yale club by a group of influential Americans headed by James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany and now chairman of the American committee for the independence of Armenia.

A memorandum previously signed by 100 statesmen, high army officers, financiers, church officials, editors and foreign relief workers was approved for presentation to President Coolidge, Secretary of State Hughes and individual senators before whom the treaty will come for ratification at the forthcoming session of congress.

The document charges that the state department's envoys at Lausanne sacrificed to Mustafa Kemal the rights of American citizens in Armenia, and threw overboard the Armenian people, whom this country was pledged to protect in exchange for the Chester concessions to a few American businessmen, since transferred to alien control.

"It is morally an indefensible treaty," said the memorandum. "It is an utterly humiliating and purposeless treaty. It surrenders every American right in Turkey. It renders impossible the continuance of American education and philanthropic enterprises in that country. It ignores our solemn pledge to Armenia."

Kemal Regime Threatened.
"The economic concessions it purports to secure for a few Americans are now admitted to be of dubious value, and have already been transferred into alien hands."

"The Turks have broken thus early their promises of good behavior and their guarantees to our missionaries and to the remnants of Christians in Turkey. All reports which have recently reached the outside world from Turkish and foreign sources show that factional armed conflicts, widespread banditry and hopeless economic chaos seriously threaten Kemal's regime, and that the task which confronts this government is according to the admission of its own leaders, a truly impossible one."

"We believe that the honor of America, no less than every dictate of reason, demands that the senate reject the Lausanne treaty."

The treaty is attacked on seven points, signers of the memorandum asserting that:

"Our nationals in Turkey are to be deprived of the protection of the American consular courts—a prerogative they have enjoyed since 1832—and made subject to the notorious corrupt Turkish police and courts."

"Our missionary institutions in Turkey are to be likewise subject to Turkish laws. The question of indemnities suffered by Americans through arbitrary and illegal acts is left for later discussion. Our merchant vessels may, as in the past, pass through the Dardanelles which, however, may be closed at the will of the Turks as was done in 1914."

"Our archeologists enjoy the same rights that are enjoyed by Turkish archeologists. This only requires the comment that there never have been any Turkish archeologists."

"The open door—we resume our former privilege to trade with and invest in Turkey. The importance of that privilege may be gauged by the fact that in 1913, when Turkey's estimated population was 17,500,000, American exports to that country amounted to $3,313,321 or 16 cents per capita. The population of Turkey now is only about 5,000,000."

"Protected minorities are to enjoy the 'protection' of Turkish laws—as in the past. Since 1774 Turkey has solemnly agreed in 21 international documents, to protect the Christians."

RIP-RAPPING WORK IS UNDER WAY ON RIVER

Good Start Is Made in $100,000 Project on West Bank of the Missouri

WILL EMPLOY MANY

Great Deal of Employment to Be Furnished During the Winter on Project

Progress is being made on the work of protecting the west bank of the Missouri river just north of the Northern Pacific railroad bridge. The work, being done by the United States Engineers, War Department, is designed to hold the channel of the river in place, protect the bank from erosion and an overbank which might endanger the city of Mandan, cut the Northern Pacific railroad grade and endanger the approach to the new North Dakota Liberty Memorial bridge. The total cost of the work is estimated at upwards of $100,000.

The first work undertaken by W. J. Maulding, in charge of the work for the United States Engineers, was to have a force of men "shave" the bank of the river for the placing of mattresses. This work has been in progress for some time and is now completed. The bank was leveled, with a gradual slope.

Contracts have been let for furnishing stone and willows which will be used in making the mattresses. The mattresses are made with bundles of wire around the willow brush, and cables tie them together. The mattresses will be built out on the ice during the winter, as far as it is desired to go, perhaps half way across the river. When they are in place the ice will be cut from under them and the mattresses will drop down to the bottom of the river. They protect the river from cutting the bank away.

The stone and willows to be used in the work will be furnished at low prices. Bids were received from a score of farmers and contractors. It was desired to give the work to farmers and the manner in which they responded with bids was gratifying to the federal officials.

Mr. Maulding maintains an office in Mandan. During the winter a large number of men will be employed on the job.

CLAIM FORBES WAS DESERTER

Former Head of Veterans Bureau was Apprehended

Washington, Nov. 26.—Papers said by war department officials show that at one time Charles E. Forbes, former director of the Veterans Bureau, was dropped from the rolls of the army as a deserter were turned over to the Senate Veterans Committee today by the state department.

The records, sent to the committee at its request, also were said to show that Forbes was apprehended, served out his term of enlistment and was discharged without having been brought to trial.

DRASTIC TAX CUT PROPOSED BY N. D. BODY

Tax Payers Association Would Cut the Levies to 55 Per Cent of 1923 Levies

PLAN PETITIONS

Will Place the Matter Before Voters of the State at Primary Election

Fargo, Nov. 26.—The North Dakota Tax Payers Association will propose the adoption of a law limiting taxes for the three years 1924, '25 and '26 to 55 per cent of the taxes levied for 1923, it was announced today by J. G. Gunderson of Aneta, president of the association.

Petitions initiating the measure will be placed in circulation as soon as the proposed bill is drafted and the bill probably will be submitted to the voters in the primary election of 1924. Announcements of the proposal to limit taxation in the manner suggested followed a mail referendum by Mr. Gunderson on the subject, the matter being placed by him before the other directors of the association.

"Many details must be considered in the framing of the measure providing arbitrary limitation of the taxes," Mr. Gunderson declared today. These, however, will be fully covered as quickly as possible and the bill when it is prepared for circulation will cover all angles of the subject."

As contemplated the measure would affect all classes of taxing units the state, the county, the city, the villages, the towns, the townships, the school district, and the park board.

In support of the proposal it is contended by the officers of the tax payers association that the tax increase has been so great in recent years that a step of drastic nature is required if an increase is to be curbed. The method followed he declared will be that of presenting the bill through petition to voters. If a sufficient number of signers are obtained, only 7,000 would be required to initiate the measure, then the bill would be filed with the secretary of state who would submit it at a vote of the primary election June 1924.

Jacob M. Arnof Takes Life in a Little Grove Near Buenos Aires; Had Lost All of His Stolen Fortune; Confesses All in a Note He Wrote to Captain

Buenos Aires, Nov. 26.—In a little wooded grove near a race track where he had lost his all, an employee of the United States shipping board who had lived here three years under the name of Jacob M. Arnof, of McCrory, Ind., committed suicide. He had stolen $250,000 during the past two years.

But before he died he left a letter of confession, written to Captain Garlang Roteh, of the shipping board in which he disclosed that he had not been Arnof at all but one Harry Wolfe of New Orleans. Investigation disclosed a remarkable story.

Impester Got Funds from Family Wolfe, in the letter, told how he had assumed Arnof's name and identity 3 years ago. He had drawn on Arnof's father, in Arkansas for funds, until the latter was forced to call a halt and the game was up.

Arnof, Wolfe wrote, came here in November, 1920. He and Wolfe went canoeing and the Arkansas youth fell overboard and was drowned.

Wolfe started for the police station to report the accident. Then the big idea, which he was to develop with so many elaborate fabrications, came to him.

Instead of going to the police he went to Arnof's room. In a general way, he resembled the drowned youth, who was not known here. He took the latter's papers, his passport, studied his letters and started life anew as Jacob Arnof.

Burned Scar on Face
The dead man's passport showed a prominent scar on his face so Arnof burned one on his own face.

He obtained employment with the United States shipping board.

"I decided to make as much as possible out of the fraud," Wolfe wrote before he shot himself. "I drew on his bank account. I wrote to his father, asking for money."

"The old man sent me money until I asked for $25,000. Then he protested and notified the American consul at Buenos Aires."

"I fooled the latter, with the passport and the acid scar."

Then, Wolfe confessed, he started embellishing shipping board funds.

He did this, not only in Arnof's name but in the names of other employees.

"I got 500,000 pesos. I could have taken 250,000 more," he wrote.

Wolfe started depositing American dollars as pesos in a local bank.

Police Doubt Story
Captain Roteh discovered one day that something was amiss. He went to the bank to make an examination. Wolfe fled. After writing the confession letter, he sought the little patch of woods near the race track and shot himself.

He had 22 pesos. All the rest he had lost at the races.

The Argentine police are inclined to discredit the story unfolded by the dead youth's letter. They express the belief that "Wolfe" actually was Arnof, whom they think had been a wayward son of H. Arnof, New Orleans cotton magnate.

They believe young Arnof, when he found discovery of his defalcation inevitable, sought to shield the family name by one last striking act of his imagination.

Saturday, December 1, is the last day of the season for hunting ducks, geese and brant, according to County Auditor Johnson.

The law provides for an open season from September 16 to December 2. While the open season dates on prairie chickens are given as inclusive in the law, he says this is not true of ducks, and the season will end at midnight Saturday.

There are still thousands of ducks in the country, according to one hunter who was out Sunday and had good luck in several shooting. Another who was at a lake had only fair success.

GIRL'S STORY OF MURDER IS SHOWN FALSE

Said Man Was Guilty Because She Was Tired of Questioning

Chicago, Nov. 24.—An alleged confession by Otto Malm, arrested for robbing a butcher shop, that he killed Edward Lehmann during a robbery several weeks ago of a knit goods factory has exonerated Walter Bocklman, held for the slaying and identified as the slayer by Ethel Beck, 19, his alleged accomplice. Authorities had regarded the case against Bocklman as complete. Lehmann, accompanied by Albert Stenwedel, a night watchman, had surprised a man and a blonde woman attempting to enter the factory and in an exchange of shots Lehmann was fatally wounded. Ethel Beck, arrested as the blonde woman, declared after questioning that Bocklman had fired the shot. Malm's confession names his wife as the blonde woman. H. Norine, arrested as a result of Malm's alleged confession for robbery, is said to have admitted driving the automobile in which Malm says he and his wife escaped from the scene of the shooting after his wife had been slightly wounded. Confronted with Malm's statement the Beck girl admitted she had confessed falsely. She said she was tired of being questioned and admitted guilt to end the interrogation.

EGGS MUST BE FRESH IF SAID SO, IS RULING

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 24.—Strictly fresh eggs are not eggs which have been held in storage for six months, and what's more, they can't be sold as such in North Dakota. That's the warning issued to traffickers in eggs by R. O. Aird, state food commissioner, who calls attention to the North Dakota Egg law, which defines a fresh egg as one which has not been in cold storage for more than 30 days. "Selling of cold storage eggs as 'strictly fresh eggs,' 'fresh eggs,' or even 'eggs' is illegal, according to this act," Mr. Baird declares. "The law specifies that a sign at least six inches square bearing the words 'cold storage' must be displayed over any eggs offered for sale which have been in cold storage more than 30 days. This act also applies to eggs which have been preserved by pickling in brine, waterglass or lime water, or by any other process. In this case a placard must be displayed bearing the words 'preserved'."

Overland Champion Gives Free Rides

Week of November 22-29 Set Aside by All Willys-Overland Dealers as National Champion Demonstration Week.

November 22-29 will be Champion Demonstration Week among Willys-Overland dealers, branches and distributors throughout the United States. Willys Overland, Inc., has set aside this period as a merchandising period when greatest stress would be laid upon this most versatile of all the most successful year that Willys-Overland merchants have ever yet enjoyed. For the first time since this new car was first announced early in October all of the 5,000 dealers throughout the land have now been furnished with sample cars of this type. Factory production has been expedited up to such a point where it is judged to be nearly adequate to the demand. For the first time President John N. Willys and General Sales Manager L. G. Peed consider the circumstances in their dealer organization to be ripe for a universal effort to acquaint the motor car buying public with the many uses of this unique model. No car that Willys-Overland has ever introduced has met with the spontaneous and immediate acclaim that greeted the Champion. While radically novel and fresh, yet it proved to be the type of motor car that many have longed for and hoped for. It probably is the most divergently useful car ever brought out. Its front and rear seats can be easily and quickly adjusted to three different positions, permitting a tall driver to manipulate foot pedals without cramping of legs. By the same token a short driver can adjust the driver's seat so that he can easily reach the pedals. Rear seat can also be moved forward or back to accommodate the convenience of the passengers. The car's most remarkable characteristic, however, is that both front and rear seats and upholstery can be entirely removed and made up into a luxurious bed right in the car, a feature that will prove invaluable to tourists and campers. With rear seat and upholstery removed fifty cubic feet of space for salesman's samples, suit cases, trunks and luggage, farm tools, produce and supplies, camp duffle and other equipment that it might be necessary to transport, all of which can easily be loaded into this compartment. The entire week will be devoted by the Willys-Overland dealer organization to a thorough display and demonstration of this car's many uses. SLAYER OF RASPUTIN HERE

Russian Lands in New York
Dressed in Fine Style

New York, Nov. 26.—A tall, handsome young man, with congenial temperament and aristocratic delicacy of manner, dressed in a wasp-waisted suit of latest Parisian cut—Prince Felix Youssouf, only male son of the Romanoffs ever to set foot on these shores—arrived on the Berengaria.

He smilingly admitted he had been a member of the party of Russian noblemen who, one snowy night in late December, 1916, slew Gregory Rasputin, monk confessor of the late czar. He added that he came here to sell some ancient snuff boxes and visit a few friends.

Although readily admitting his participation, the prince was reluctant to describe the details of the slaying of the man who was reputed to have risen from obscure origin to become the power behind the throne of the Russian empire through an almost hypnotic influence over the czar.

He would say only that he was one of the group who, supposedly impelled by a patriotic desire to rid Russia of its evil genius, enticed Rasputin to the Youssouf palace in Petrograd, slew him and consigned his body to the icy waters of the Neva river.

Brings Valuable Jewels.
Accompanying Prince Felix was his wife, Princess Irene, who is a sister of the late Czar Nicholas, and thus a blood relative of the reigning family in Britain.

Prince Felix brought with him for exhibition and sale a collection of Russian antiques, including a necklace of black pearls.

Pending appraisal, the collection of gems was placed in the coffers of a local bank by customs officials.

Edward T. Barnes, assistant solicitor of customs, roughly estimated the value of the prince's jewels at $1,500,000. A week will be required for detailed examination. Jewels which belonged to Catherine the Great, and the Black Pearl necklace, were regarded as the most valuable pieces.

BANKER HEAD OF SOO LINE

Clive T. Jaffray Is Named
President of Road

Minneapolis, Nov. 26.—Clive T. Jaffray, president of the First National Bank, Minneapolis, was elected president of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railway at a meeting of the directors of the road held late Friday.

In announcing the election of Mr. Jaffray, it was said that the new president would not devote his entire time to the business of the Soo Line until after January 1.

Mr. Jaffray has been engaged in the banking business in Minneapolis since he came to that city in 1887 from Canada. He was born in Berlin, Ont., on July 1, 1865.

Among Mr. Jaffray's activities have been his service as a member of the northwest agricultural loan committee of the War Finance Corporation, president of the Twin Cities Bankers Club, president in 1919 of the Minneapolis Clearing House Association, director in the American Foreign Banking Corporation, director in the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company, the Chicago, Great Western railroad, the Wisconsin Central railroad and the Soo Line. Mr. Jaffray has been a director of the Wisconsin Central for about ten years and a year ago was elected to the directorate of the Soo. For several years he was treasurer of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce.

Witnesses
AT HEARING

When the western grain rate hearing is resumed in Minneapolis today, three witnesses will be present from North Dakota to discuss general agricultural conditions to support the argument of western rates for a decrease in rates on grain and grain products. The case is being continued in the Northwest by the Interstate Commerce Commission, which held a hearing in Kansas City recently. Chairman Mitholan of the state railroad commission will be at the hearing with Dr. Benton of the Agricultural college, who will present data upon the cost of producing grain. George Fargo, a Cass county farmer, and a Benson county farmer.

"ELECTIVE" LAW CITED

Claim Filed Under This Method
Refused by Workmen's Compensation Bureau

Under the Workmen's Compensation law the bureau often makes awards against employers who have failed to pay premiums to the bureau, which are held enforceable against the company. Commissioner Wenzell describes a case involving such an award as follows:

"An employee of a coal mine, which had not paid into the compensation fund, had filed an 'elective' claim against the company for a hernia sustained as the result of an accident sustained in the course of employment. An award was made against the company sometime ago allowing an operation and for loss of time on account thereof. Claimant has now made a showing that he is unable to go ahead under the award, and applied for a new award of a definite amount granted, and award made of the schedule allowance for such operations, with compensation for six weeks."

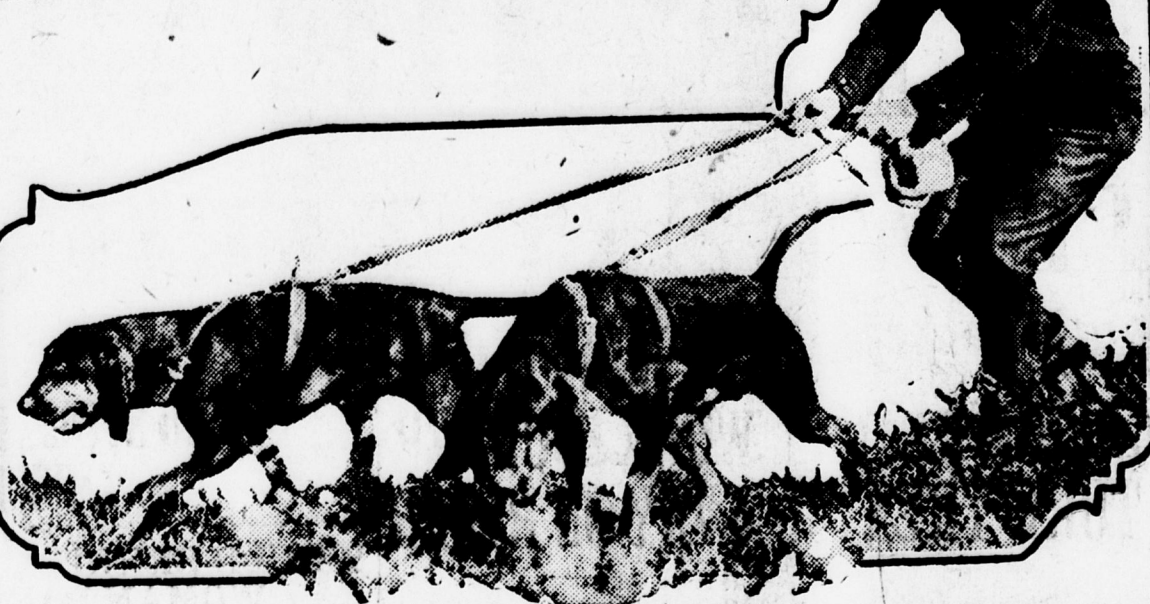

Under the 'elective' claim provision, the employee who is injured may sue direct or seek award through the bureau.

Another case described by Commissioner Wenzell follows:

A plain-clothes man, doing work for state and federal departments but directly under the supervision of the state's attorney of a county, after completing his work and being paid off, started back by auto to his headquarters, which was about 75 miles away. He left the county seat of the county for which he had been working about seven in the evening, in the company of three other persons, and met with an accident on the way, resulting in severe injuries. Claim was filed on the theory that injured party was an employee of the county, but it was held that he was not an employee at the time of the accident and even if an employee, that the injury was not sustained in the course of his employment."

KEEP DOWN CRIME IN NORTHWEST

These bloodhounds are the terror of criminals in the Pacific northwest. They are owned by Sheriff Matt Starwich of King County, Wash. Whenever there is a murder or robbery, Queen (in front) and Rambler take up the trail of the men the law is after. And they have found many persons who have lost their way in the mountains. F. A. Davis, the hounds' trainer, is taking them for their regular morning jaunt.

NO ACTION ON RAIL PETITION

New Line, Fargo to Grand Forks, May Be Opposed

No action has been taken by the state railroad commission upon the petition recently filed by the Red River Valley Railroad Company, a Minnesota corporation organized in 1914, for permission to offer stock for sale. It is understood that the commission is investigating the petition and the circumstances surrounding it.

It is known that there has been a feeling upon the part of at least one member of the state railroad commission that there already is too much duplication of railroad lines in North Dakota, which has resulted in double expense of transportation and caused insufficient return to the competing railroad lines. The proposed line from Fargo to Grand Forks is regarded by this member as a duplication of existing transportation systems, and he is known to be inclined to view the proposal for a new line with disfavor.

Whether or not the promoters of the new line are engaged in a "Milwaukee proposition" or not is a matter of doubt among some here who have discussed the matter. While it is said the maps filed some years ago by the Red River Valley Railroad Company provided for connections with the Milwaukee railroad, it also was pointed out that a new road would necessarily make connections and that it would be more logical for them to attempt to connect with the Milwaukee system than any other.

Colleges Solve Problems To Aid Scientific Farmer

Boston, Nov. 26.—The agricultural experiment stations at the University of New Hampshire and Rhode Island State College have solved two problems which have puzzled the scientific farmer. At the former investigations have been in progress to learn the contrary actions on different plants from the use of Bordeaux mixture, a combination of copper and lime. This has been used universally to prevent plant disease.

Experiments have disclosed beneficial results in darker foliage, especially that in very dry soil, which was found to be helped by shade. The mixture when sprayed forms a film on the plants and the more lime used in it the less transparent it becomes to the solar spectrum. On the other hand, the mixture, while unquestionably preventing the plant diseases for which it is used, was found to be injurious to the health of some other plants which require more light and sun.

The station at Rhode Island State College has revised the gospel of lime, earnestly preached as a corrective for acid soils, by adding the injunction to use acid phosphate with it. This, it has been found, will completely eliminate the soluble aluminum in the soil which poisons plants. The combination of lime and acid phosphate has proved better than either alone.

'COME BACK' OF N.D. SECURITIES SEEN IN BIDS

State Bids go Below Five Per Cent for the First Time in
Many Months

SEEK BETTER RATE

The attraction of 20 of the leading financial houses of the country to North Dakota securities, as evidenced by the bids submitted here Saturday for state bonds of the real estate series, is regarded as the first direct result of the recent advertising gained for the state in the east by Governor Nestos. The various combinations of bids included special houses of Minneapolis, St. Paul, Chicago and New York.

The bid of E. M. Grant and Company of New York and Chicago, of a total premium of $10,440 on $2,400,000 of five percent bonds, registered the only sale, except one, that has been made on less than a five percent basis in two years. The first real estate bonds sold just before the Frazier administration went out of office two years ago bore a five percent interest. The interest rate was dropped to 3 1/2 percent in later sales and the series "E" bonds sold on a 5 1/2 percent interest basis. Series "F" bonds then sold with interest at 5 1/4 percent.

The sale made Saturday is the best in two years, with one exception. On one occasion, when representatives of bond companies engaged in a dispute over the manner of bids, and the bidding was postponed later the same day, a bid was made that permitted the sale on a basis of less than five percent and slightly lower than the latest sale. The last previous two sales, in September, were on a 5.18 and 5.15 percent basis.

Although Governor Nestos and other members of the Industrial Commission were glad to see many bidders submit bids in the latest sale, it is known that the Governor is not satisfied with the rate of interest. Although North Dakota bonds for many years have been on a fairly high rate of interest basis, the Governor believes that the interest rate should fall below 5 percent regularly, and somewhat below the figure of the latest sale. He and other members of the Industrial Commission believe that, with a continued effort to impress upon financial houses and investors the worth and resources of North Dakota, a lower rate of interest can be secured not only on state bonds but on all securities sold in the state.

The bidding Saturday brought several new firms into the state market for securities for the first time. These included Hayden, Stone and Company of New York; Eldridge and Company of New York; The New York Life Insurance Company and Halsey, Stuart and Company of Chicago, all big houses of securities. The R. M. Grant and Company of New York and Chicago, which bought the bonds, is said to be a big house, but has been in the market before for North Dakota securities.

OVER 2,500 HEAR MARTIN CONCERTS HERE

Local People Pleased with Attendance and Comments on His Appearance

More than 2,500 people heard Ricardo Martin, famous tenor, sing in his two night's engagement in Bismarck. It was estimated that there were 1,400 people in the auditorium Friday night and something more than 1,000 on Saturday night.

Mr. Martin changed his program for Saturday night somewhat. He was greeted by a large audience, which included about 50 people from Mandan and many from other towns in this vicinity.

Several lovers of music heard Mr. Martin sing both on Friday and Saturday nights and were thrilled on both nights with the fine quality of his voice.

Mr. Martin's work is hardly subject to review by other than a musical critic of note. The Baltimore Evening Journal has characterized him as "the greatest living tenor of American nationality." The Chicago Daily News had called him one of the "particular stars" of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, The San Juan Porto Rico, Democrazia had spoken of the "marvelous amplitude" and "astonishing range and flexibility" in his voice. London newspapers had spoken of his great ability in appearances in the Covent Garden in 1920. H. T. Finck in the New York Evening Post called him "the finest living tenor except Caruso."

It was evident that the great majority of the 2,500 people that heard Mr. Martin were enthusiastic over his appearance. It was noticeable also that his American operatic selections and particularly his American songs, had been sung more than songs in a foreign language.

There had appeared doubt in the minds of some people as to whether or not an operatic tenor would attract a great crowd or hold the audience. The attendance on both nights and the comments on the concert were extremely gratifying to members of the Association of Commerce committee which sponsored his appearance.

MARKET NEWS

WHEAT MAKES LITTLE GAIN

Higher Early in Spite of Uncertainty

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Subsequent to a liberal increase of the United States visible supply total counted as something of a weight on the market. Prices closed unsettled at 7-8 cents net decline to 1-8 cent advance, with December, $1.02 3/4 to 1-2 to $1.02 1/2 and May $1.08 to $1.08 1/2.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Wheat scored a moderate advance in price today in spite of some uncertainty at the start. Initial decline was ascribed to lower quotations at Liverpool and to the fact that world shipments were heavy. With wheat tariff hearings begun at Washington, however, and with world exchange higher wheat quickly developed strength. Opening prices which ranged from 3-8 cents off to 1-8 cents up, with Dec. $1.02 3/4 to $1.02 7/8 and May $1.08 1/2 to $1.08 1/4 were followed by gains all around.

Attacked By Enraged Hog

Hazleton, Nov. 26.—Herbert Price had an experience on Tuesday, Nov. 18th, that he will long remember and which will put an air of extreme caution about him in the future whenever he is handling a bear pig. Mr. Price was working with the huge animal last week when it attacked him with quite serious results. The animal got him down and succeeded to chew him up badly before he could escape. The tasks of the bear ripped a long gash in Mr. Price's leg and thigh that required a number of stitches, besides tearing the flesh in several spots. While the injuries are not of a very serious nature, still they are very painful, as the bite of a pig is said to be quite poisonous. Mr. Price is still under the physician's care, although able to get about.

It is expected that by the conclusion of this drive Eliens' Pure Milk Chocolate will be on the tip of every tongue in Bismarck within a few days.

"The finest milk chocolate in the world, manufactured in the wonder plant of two continents," is the way in which Eliens' district representative spoke of his wares.

SOFT COAL MINES CLOSE

Ind rapolis Nov. 26.—Closing down of bituminous coal mines is general and is not confined in the union fields. William Green, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, said here today.

"There is no market for soft coal in the central west and the non-union fields are just as hard hit as the union fields," he said, adding that the situation was not so bad in the central Pennsylvania district. "A general slump in business is the difficulty with the bituminous mining industry."

'COME BACK' OF N.D. SECURITIES SEEN IN BIDS

State Bids go Below Five Per Cent for the First Time in
Many Months

SEEK BETTER RATE

The attraction of 20 of the leading financial houses of the country to North Dakota securities, as evidenced by the bids submitted here Saturday for state bonds of the real estate series, is regarded as the first direct result of the recent advertising gained for the state in the east by Governor Nestos. The various combinations of bids included financial houses of Minneapolis, St. Paul, Chicago and New York.

The bid of E. M. Grant and Company of New York and Chicago, of a total premium of $10,440 on $2,400,000 of five percent bonds, registered the only sale, except one, that has been made on less than a five percent basis in two years. The first real estate bond sale just before the Frontier administration went out of office two years ago bore 6 percent interest. The interest rate was dropped to 5 1/2 percent in later sales and the series "E" bonds sold on a 5 1/2 percent interest basis. Series "E" bonds then sold with interest at 5 1/4 percent.

The sale made Saturday is the best in two years, with one exception. On one occasion, when representatives of bond companies engaged in a dispute over the manner of bids, and the bidding was reopened later the same day, a bid was made that permitted the sale on a basis of less than five percent and slightly lower than the latest sale. The last previous two sales, in September, were on a 5.18 and 5.15 percent basis.

Although Governor Nestos and other members of the Industrial Commission were glad to see many bidders submit bids in the latest sale, it is known that the Governor is not satisfied with the rate of interest. Although North Dakota bonds for many years have been on a fairly high rate of interest basis, the Governor believes that the interest rate should fall below 5 percent regularly, and somewhat below the figure of the latest sale. He and other members of the Industrial Commission believe that, with a continued effort to impress upon financial houses and investors the wealth and resources of North Dakota, a lower rate of interest can be secured not only on state bonds but on all securities sold in the state.

The bidding Saturday brought several new firms into the state market for securities for the first time. These included Hayden, Stone and Company of New York; Eldridge and Company of New York; The New York Life Insurance Company and Halsey, Stuart and Company of Chicago, all big buyers of securities. The R. M. Grant and Company of New York and Chicago, which bought the bonds, is said to be a big house, but has been in the market before for North Dakota securities.

MARKET NEWS WHEAT MAKES LITTLE GAIN

Higher Early in Spite of Uncertainty

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Subsequent to a liberal increase of the United States visible supply total counted as something of a weight on the market. Prices closed unsettled at 7-8 cents net decline to 1-8 cent advance, with December, $1.02 3/4 to 1-2 to $1.02 1-2 and May $1.08 to $1.08 1-8.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Wheat scored a moderate advance in price today despite some uncertainty at the start. Initial declines were ascribed to lower quotations at Liverpool and to the fact that world shipments were heavy. With wheat tariff hearings begun at Washington, however, and with world exchange higher, wheat quickly developed strength. Opening prices which ranged from 3-8 cents off to 1-8 cents up, with Dec. $1.02 3/4 to $1.02 7-8 and May $1.08 1-8 to $1.08 1-4 were followed by gains all around.

OVER 2,500 HEAR MARTIN CONCERTS HERE

Local People Pleased with Attendance and Comments on His Appearance

More than 2,500 people heard Ricardo Martin, famous tenor, sing in his two night's engagement in Bismarck. It was estimated that there were 1,400 people in the auditorium Friday night and something more than 1,000 on Saturday night.

Mr. Martin changed his program for Saturday night somewhat. He was greeted by a large audience, which included about 50 people from Mandan and many from other towns in this vicinity.

Several lovers of music heard Mr. Martin sing both on Friday and Saturday nights and were thrilled on both nights with the fine quality of his voice.

Mr. Martin's work is hardly subject to review by other than a musical critic of note. The Baltimore Evening Journal has characterized him as "the greatest living tenor of American nationality." The Chicago Daily News had called him one of the "particular stars" of the Chicago Grand Opera Company. The San Juan Porto Rico, Democracia had spoken of the "marvelous amplitude" and an "astounding range and flexibility" in his voice. London newspapers had spoken of his great ability in appearances in the Covent Garden in 1920. H. T. Finck in the New York Evening Post called him "the finest living tenor except Caruso."

Attacked By Enraged Hog

Hazleton, Nov. 26.—Herbert Price had an experience on Tuesday, Nov. 13th that he will long remember and which will put an air of extreme caution about him in the future whenever he is handling a boar pig. Mr. Price was working with the huge animal last week when it attacked him with quite serious results. The animal got him down and succeeded to chew him up badly before he could escape. The tusks of the boar ripped a long gash in Mr. Price's leg and thigh that required a number of stitches, besides tearing the flesh in several spots. While the injuries are not of a very serious nature, still they are very painful, as the bite of a pig is said to be quite poisonous. Mr. Price is still under the physician's care, although able to get about.

Launch Campaign To Introduce Eline's Chocolates

A campaign to introduce Eline's famous chocolates which are made in Milwaukee was started in Bismarck today.

It is one of the biggest advertising and merchandising campaigns that has appeared in the Tribune for some time. It is unique in every detail. Tribune readers will be given an opportunity to enjoy Eline's Chocolate Almond and Pure Milk Bars to be given with any purchase accompanied by the coupon of their full page add which will appear soon in this paper.

Various kinds of interesting window displays, streamers, door signs, merchandise displays, big outdoor posters, and similar things will be used in backing up Tribune advertising. It is expected that by the conclusion of this drive Eline's Pure Milk Chocolate will be on the tip of every tongue in Bismarck within a few days.

"The finest milk chocolate in the world, manufactured in the wonder plant of two continents," is the way in which Eline's district representative spoke of his wares.

Here is your opportunity Mr. Dealer! Call your wholesale house and place that order for Eline's now, so that you will be in on the tip of the boom of the first gun—a full page ad in the Tribune.

SOFT COAL MINES CLOSE

Indianapolis, Nov. 26.—Closing down of bituminous coal mines is general and is not confined in the union fields, William Green, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, said here today.

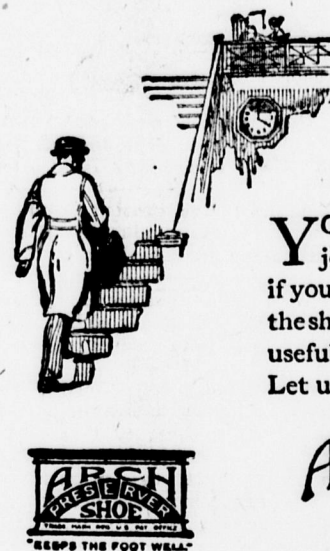

"There is no market for soft coal in the central west and the non-union fields are just as hard hit as the union fields," he said, adding that the situation was not so bad in the central Pennsylvania district.

"A general slump in business is the difficulty with the bituminous mining industry."

SLAYER OF RASPUTIN HERE

Russian Lands in New York Dressed in Fine Style

New York, Nov. 26.—A tall, handsome young man, with congenial temperament and aristocratic delicacy of manner, dressed in a wisp-waisted suit of latest Parisian cut—Prince Felix Youssouppoff, only male son of the Romanoffs ever to set foot on these shores—arrived on the Berengaria.

He smilingly admitted he had been a member of the party of Russian noblemen who, one snowy night in late December, 1916, slew Gregory Rasputin, monk confessor of the late czar. He added that he came here to sell some ancient snuff boxes and visit a few friends.

Although readily admitting his participation, the prince was reluctant to describe the details of the slaying of the man who was reputed to have risen from obscure origin to become the power behind the throne of the Russian empire through an almost hypnotic influence over the czar.

He would say only that he was one of the group who, supposedly impelled by a patriotic desire to rid Russia of its evil genius, enticed Rasputin to the Yousouppoff palace in Petrograd, slew him and consigned his body to the icy waters of the Neva river.

Brings Valuable Jewels.
Accompanying Prince Felix was his wife, Princess Irene, who is a sister of the late Czar Nicholas, and thus a blood relative of the reigning family in Britain.

Prince Felix brought with him for exhibition and sale a collection of Russian antiques, including a necklace of black pearls.

Pending appraisal, the collection of gems was placed in the coffers of a local bank by customs officials.

Edward T. Barnes, assistant solicitor of customs, roughly estimated the value of the prince's jewels at $1,500,000. A week will be required for detailed examination. Jewels which belonged to Catherine the Great, and the Black Pearl necklace, were regarded as the most valuable pieces.

BANKER HEAD OF SOO LINE

Clive T. Jaffray Is Named President of Road

Minneapolis, Nov. 26.—Clive T. Jaffray, president of the First National Bank, Minneapolis, was elected president of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie railway at a meeting of the directors of the road held late Friday.

In announcing the election of Mr. Jaffray, it was said that the new president would not devote his entire time to the business of the Soo Line until after January 1.

Mr. Jaffray has been engaged in the banking business in Minneapolis since he came to that city in 1887 from Canada. He was born in Berlin, Ont., on July 1, 1865.

Among Mr. Jaffray's activities have been his service as a member of the northwest agricultural loan committee of the War Finance Corporation, president of the Twin Cities Bankers Club, president in 1919 of the Minneapolis Clearing House Association, director in the American Foreign Banking Corporation, director in the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company, the Chicago, Great Western railroad, the Wisconsin Central railroad and the Soo Line. Mr. Jaffray has been a director of the Wisconsin Central for about ten years and a year ago was elected to the directorate of the Soo. For several years he was treasurer of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce.

WITNESSES AT HEARING

When the western grain rate hearing is resumed in Minneapolis today, three witnesses will be present from North Dakota to discuss general agricultural conditions to support the argument of western rates for a decrease in rates on grain and grain products. The case is being continued in the Northwest by the Inter-

"ELECTIVE" LAW CITED

Claim Filed Under This Method Refused by Workmen's Compensation Bureau

Under the Workmen's Compensation law the bureau often makes awards against employers who have failed to pay premiums to the bureau, which are held enforceable against the company. Commissioner Wenzel describes a case involving such an award as follows:

"An employee of a coal mine, which had not paid into the compensation fund, had filed an 'elective' claim against the company for an accident sustained as the result of an accident in this mine against the company. An award was made against the company for loss of time on account thereof. Claimant has now made a showing that he is unable to go ahead under the award, and applied for a new award of a definite sum against the employer. Application granted, and award made of the schedule allowance for such operations, with compensation for six weeks."

Under the 'elective' claim provision, the employee who is injured may sue direct or seek award through the bureau.

Another case described by Commissioner Wenzel follows:

A plain-clothes man, doing work for state and federal departments but directly under the supervision of the state's attorney of a county, after completing his work and being paid off, started back by auto to his headquarters, which was about 75 miles away. He left the county seat of the county for which he had been working about seven in the evening, in the company of three other persons, and met with an accident on the way, resulting in severe injuries. Claim was filed on the theory that injured party was an employee of the county, but it was held that he was not an employee at the time of the accident and even if an employee, that the injury was not sustained in the course of his employment."

KEEP DOWN CRIME IN NORTHWEST

These bloodhounds are the terror of criminals in the Pacific northwest. They are owned by Sheriff Matt Starbuck of King County, Wash. Whenever there is a murder or robbery, Queen (in front) and Rumbler take up the trail of the men the law is after. And they have found many persons who have lost their way in the mountains. F. A. Davis, the hounds' trainer, is taking them for their regular morning jaunt.

NO ACTION ON RAIL PETITION

New Line, Fargo to Grand Forks, May Be Opposed

No action has been taken by the state railroad commission upon the petition recently filed by the Red River Valley Railroad Company, a Minnesota corporation organized in 1914, for permission to offer stock for sale. It is understood that the commission is investigating the petition and the circumstances surrounding it.

It is known that there has been a feeling upon the part of at least one member of the state railroad commission that there already is too much duplication of railroad lines in North Dakota, which has resulted in double expense of transportation and caused insufficient return to the competing railroad lines. The proposed line from Fargo to Grand Forks is regarded by this member as a duplication of existing transportation systems, and he is known to be inclined to view the proposal for a new line with disfavor. Whether or not the promoters of the new line are engaged in a "Milwaukee proposition" or not is a matter of doubt among some here who have discussed the matter. While it is said the maps filed some years ago by the Red River Valley Railroad Company provided for connections with the Milwaukee railroad, it also was pointed out that a new road would necessarily make connections and that it would be more logical for them to attempt to connect with the Milwaukee system than any other.

Colleges Solve Problems To Aid Scientific Farmer

Boston, Nov. 26.—The agricultural experiment stations at the University of New Hampshire and Rhode Island State College have solved two problems which have puzzled the scientific farmer. At the former investigations have been in progress to learn the contrary actions on different plants from the use of hordeum mixture, a combination of copper and lime. This has been used universally to prevent plant disease.

Experiments have disclosed beneficial results in darker foliage, especially that in very dry soil, which was found to be helped by shade. The mixture when sprayed forms a film on the plants and the more lime used in it the less transparent it becomes to the solar spectrum. On the other hand, the mixture, while unquestionably preventing the plant diseases for which it is used, was found to be injurious to the health of some other plants which require more light and sun. The station at Rhode Island State College has revised the gospel of lime, earnestly preached as a corrective for acid soils, by adding the instruction to use acid phosphate with it. This, it has been found, will completely eliminate the soluble aluminum in the soil which poisons plants. The combination of lime and acid phosphate has proved better than either alone.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

ASSOCIATION OF COMMERCE
The Association of Commerce, Bismarck's civic dynamo, has run smoothly during its first year and with the election of directors for the ensuing year bids fair to enter upon a more successful period of activity in the next year.

A keen observer from the western part of the state, who has been in Bismarck frequently in the last few years on business, said the other day that he had noticed a change in the spirit of Bismarck in the last three years. He has seen a new civic spirit grow, that refuses to recognize quarrels of the past when matters of concern to the city are involved; a spirit which looks confidently to the future and fosters a civic hospitality.

It is encouraging to see that members of the Association of Commerce, in the election and in referendums, continue to do their duty by voting. A larger percentage of members have voted in this than in many organizations of similar nature. The Association has been kept free from any factional differences.

During the past year, under the executive leadership of President W. H. Webb and Secretary A. F. Bradley, the Association has made much progress. Its handling of the teachers' convention is the latest example of the service of the organization to the community. One thousand four hundred strangers left Bismarck feeling that they had had a successful convention and that Mayor Lenhart had spoken the truth when he told them Bismarck was anxious to do everything possible for their enjoyment and comfort. Without the Association of Commerce the convention could not have been so successful.

Under the leadership of the directors and officers and with the membership continuing to show a proper interest, the Association ought to grow in power and usefulness.

GUN TOTERS

Do you own a revolver? It's amazing, how many Americans do. For instance, gun toting or owning is severely restricted in New York City. And yet New York has been issuing legal permits to 30,000 people a year, to possess or carry pistols.

Pistol permits, of course, are not issued to known crooks. But legally owned pistols are frequently stolen by housebreakers. That's how the underworld gets part of its firearms.

Mail order purchase is the commoner method by which crooks arm themselves. This method requires no police registration. A criminal can not only get a pistol easily and stealthily, he can get as many as he wants and whenever he desires—by mail order.

Authorities in Buffalo the other day revoked all pistol licenses in town and the surrounding county. Fifteen thousand permits to carry firearms are effected by the Buffalo action, which resulted from discovery that a murderer wanted by police was the holder of a county pistol permit.

New York City is attacking the pistol menace in another way. Applicants for gun toting permits are being fingerprinted, the prints then checked up to make sure the applicants haven't a criminal record.

As long as crooks are able to get firearms, there'll be shooting. Even the law-abiding citizen is apt to have moments of rage or drunkenness when possession of a pistol is dangerous.

But local restrictions cannot be other than puny until the national government prohibits, in interstate commerce, the sale and shipment of revolvers except for officers of the law. Legislation to that end is before Congress.

JESSE JAMES

Jesse James never lived at all, R. F. Dibble claims in his new book, "Strenuous Americans." The notorious bandit, according to Dibble, "was a pure creation of the mind. He was born, he lived, he died, in the complex and far-reaching imagination of his race. He was America's Odysseus, America's Beowulf, America's Robin Hood."

Over a western bank we once saw a weather-beaten sign riddled with bullet holes which old residents claimed were from Jesse's pistol. We have seen further evidence of his career. We have further been led to believe that Jesse was shot April 3, 1882, while hanging a picture on the wall, and we have talked with old-time reporters who "covered" that shooting.

All hokum and bunkum, according to dabbling Mr. Dibble.

We'd be inclined to believe that Dibble is joshing—if he weren't so historically accurate in his treatment of other characters in his book: such as P. T. Barnum, Brigham Young, Mark Hanna, Admiral Dewey and James J. Hill.

Come to think of it, we never actually SAW Jesse James. All we know about him is hearsay, second-hand evidence. So we have to believe either Dibble or the rival faction of historians.

The more we ponder this, the less certain we feel of our ground. And the more it dawns on us that 99 per cent of the things we "know"—things we accept as unquestioned fact—are merely matters of faith on our part.

For instance, we have always believed that Columbus was first to discover America, though we have no actual proof that any such person as Columbus ever existed. Our confidence in Chris rests on tradition—inherited say-so.

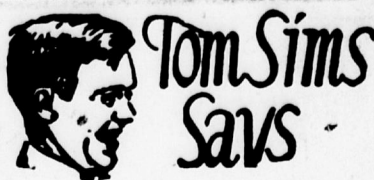

Similarly, we believe there's a city named Hongkong, though we've never seen it.

Faith is the mightiest of all human forces.

MEDICAL CURES

The medical profession has made as much progress in the last 23 years as in the last 20 centuries, claims Dr. Charles H. Mayo, the famous surgeon.

Technically this may be so. A similar claim can be set up for most professions and trades. But what really counts is spiritual progress, and no one claims decided gain in this direction. Baaher, the world has been going backward.

You know, Christmas takes a lot of preparation. Buy your bootleg now so it will be a month old then.

Let your whiskers grow. Rub a little hair tonic on them daily. They will cover up Christmas neckties.

You will get some handkerchiefs for Christmas. Now is the time to catch cold so you can use them.

Get to work on your indigestion. Have a doctor look it over and patch it up for the coming holidays.

Don't throw away your old gloves now. They are good for a few more miles. You may get new ones Christmas.

And socks—how about your socks? Tell everybody what size you wear so Santa Claus will bring you some.

Do your getting mad early and avoid the rush. Squabble now to avoid giving her a Christmas present.

Who will send you Christmas cards? That's the question. You had better send out about a million.

Who gave you unexpected presents, last Christmas? You can get even. Give them presents this year.

How about your enemies? Give them Christmas presents such as folding beds, saxophones and prunes.

As Christmas presents for government employees we suggest ham-mocks, easy chairs and lounges.

Make people happy this Christmas. Break up your old phonograph records to make neighbors happy.

Do you know a carpenter? Punch a hole in your roof and let him fix it. Make him happy for Christmas.

A Christmas present would cheer the street car conductor. His life is dull since longer skirts.

Give the policeman Christmas presents. Make friends of them. They may help you in a pinch.

The laundry folks need Christmas presents. Sew a million buttons on a shirt for them to tear off.

How about the pressing shop? They need Christmas presents. Give them an old suit to burn as they please.

Buy the bank clerk a Christmas present. Get him some stage money. He can count it without worrying.

Don't forget the plumber. Give him a nice sink all his own so he can sleep under it at home.

A thousand dollars makes a fine gift, but is rather expensive.

Would you like a Christmas present of a grouchy? We suggest a nice box of dynamite, labeled "Can't Cry."

Give the boss a Christmas present. Then tell him you must have a raise so you can pay for it.

How about the stenographer? They need Christmas presents. Buy each nine boxes of chewing gum.

Have you finished paying for the Christmas presents you bought last year?

Get something for the home this Christmas. A hammer for cracking nuts, burglars and collectors is fine.

When selecting the children's Christmas toys get two of each. One set is for father to play with.

The time has come to shop early and avoid avoiding the shoppers.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

This was the next ridge the Riddle Lady asked the people in Riddle Land, where the Twins were visiting. Humpty Dumpty told them to pay close attention.

"One misty, moisty morning, when cloudy was the weather, I changed to meet an old man, who wouldn't hold together. He was very shaky."

"How do you do and how do you do, I said to him again."

"He nodded very weakly. He really looked dejected. I went quite close and shook his hand."

"Was straw as I expected. His coat was very ragged. His hat was very torn. And all the other clothes he wore. Had certainly been worn."

"The gun upon his shoulder. He held with such devotion. Was nothing but a broomstick I had a funny notion."

"The pipe between his straw lips (Twas just a cob of corn) Dropped down upon his tattered coat."

"In attitude forlorn. He stood right in a cornfield. Where rows of corn were growing. All up and down the tiny sprouts Of tender green were showing. Just then I heard a cawing. I knew it, goodness knows, And right above our heads he appeared."

"A cloud of sooty crows. But suddenly their leader Did call to their attention, My limp and tattered friend of straw."

"Whose name I needn't mention Then they departed quickly. They departed fast. 'Ha, ha,' grinned Mister Straw Man."

"I have scared them all at last," "Is that all?" said Nancy. "Isn't it enough?" asked the Riddle Lady. "My goodness, it took me a week and seven days to write"

Boyhood Heroes

THE EMBRYO CHIEF

The Tangle

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CARTON.

My God, Syd, it's true! I went to see that picture of Perier's last week and she had spread the whole story there. There is no use of my crying 'Peccavi' for everyone in Albany today knows that I have sinned, at least everyone but Leslie.

Naturally, I don't wish Leslie any bad luck but I was rather relieved last week when she was too ill to see the picture, but someone is sure to tell her about it if they haven't yet. Then it will be all off with yours truly. Every one of the boys have come around and behind their hands told me about the picture, until I plucked up courage and went to it myself.

The whole story is told, Syd, and the last fadest shows the mother and father of the adopted child leaning over the sleeping babe while a weeping woman kneels beside an empty crib. It certainly is a mess.

She is piling it on, Syd. In the picture, if you have not seen it I must tell you, the girl hands back all the letters but one and I am willing to bet my life that it is just exactly what Perier did. She has not only got a business head but she is hard as nails. Otherwise she never would have told this story on the screen.

However, she has done one thing, Syd, which she may regret. Now that I know that child is mine I'll keep it until hell freezes over. I have said you think she wants it back. She will never get it as long as she lives, if I can help it, and I don't think Leslie would give it up either, even if she knew.

I wish, Syd, that you would write to Perier and ask her if the picture is her story. You can do this and she probably will tell you. Sometimes I think that she has allowed this author to write this story so that Leslie, seeing it, will give up the baby. But I can tell her one thing. She doesn't know Leslie as well as I do.

Although I am not going to tell my wife until I have to, I am just as sure as I am sure that I am writing this to you, that Leslie will keep that baby under any circumstances. She might not forgive me, but that won't make any difference in her feelings toward the child.

Leslie has a great sense of justice and she will know that the boy is not to blame.

Funny old world, isn't it, Syd? Who would have thought that Paula Perier would become a great moving picture actress? And yet I guess she always had it in her. God knows she had temperament enough as well as temper, and she was clever always and very beautiful.

I was very fond of her, Syd, and I had never met Leslie, possibly I might have—oh, what's the use of wondering what you would do if circumstances had not turned out as they did.

I haven't been able to eat anything for a week. Every time I think of that damned picture I get so ashamed that I am almost nauseated. The times are changing, Syd, although most men have not found it out yet. We are going to suffer for our misdeeds in the future, instead of the women. My case proves it to me for all time. 'Ware! Low bridge, old fellow, if you do not want to get your head smashed.

All of Albany is talking about me. I walk along the street and see people whispering to each other and I hear my name. I want to hide my head but I can't. And out there in Hollywood, Paula Perier is hailed as the coming great actress of the screen. I saw a paragraph the other day where she was said to be drawing down five thousand dollars a week with the sure prophecy that it will be more before the year is out.

Clara Jewett, in love with the Reverend Daniel Gilchrist, marries Jerry Goodkind for his money. Daniel is dismissed from the fashionable Church of the Nativity in New York because of his radical sermons.

"Overcoat Hall," a refuge for the unemployed, is established by Gilchrist. George Goodkind, Daniel's father, calls and orders Daniel to cease seeing Clara, who frequently visits the hall to help Gilchrist.

Clara says she has left Jerry, and Daniel sends her back to him. Clara returns to her husband. Joe Hennig and his gang break in and threaten Gilchrist. Umanski meets the mad gang.

fore an open fireplace in his room "upstairs," his eyes dreamily far away as he puffed contentedly on a pipe. It was a simple, unpretentious room. Its furnishings were cheery and it was banked with friendly books.

A faint tapping at the door hardly stirred him, and before he could turn Mary Margaret had entered furtively. She saw him in the dim light and hastily hid a package behind her back.

"Oh," she exclaimed. "Goodness, you scared me. I thought you went out."

"No," he said. "I came up here to read a little while before we put our gifts on the tree. Where's Grubby? He promised to help."

"Grubby's all swelled up with his new taxicab," she said, a little contemptuously. "Christmas eve's the big night in his business, but he says don't worry—he'll be here in time for the sandwiches. Am I interrupting your reading?"

"Oh, no," he answered, noting her obvious efforts to hide her package. "What have you there?"

"Where?" Her evasion was child-like.

"Under your apron," she said. "I was gonna surprise you," she said. "It's your Christmas present. It ain't much—but I didn't want it on the tree—before everybody I wanted to give it to you myself. Open it now."

He did so, smiling. He held up a picture, its simple significance lost in the blatant colors of a cheap chromo.

"Mary Margaret!" she called. "The package on the back," she said. "See Mamma's Treasure."

"It's just what I wanted," he said. "It's honest!" she rejoiced in delight. "Let's put it in place of that one over the mantelpiece. That's an awful pretty picture, but mine's got colors in it."

"Why not in place of the Venus who fell on her nose?" he suggested. She assented readily and with an air of pride he stood the picture on top of the bookcase.

"I can't thank you enough," he said, taking her hand.

"You thank me?" she reproached. "You that's give me—"

She looked down at her sides where crutches had once stood. They were gone now. "Oh, Mr. Gilchrist," she started, and her eyes filled with tears.

"Now, now," he warned, "we mustn't cry on Christmas."

"What are you going to do if you're happy?"

"Try laughing," he said. And she did. "And if I'm having my Christmas now, you must have yours, too. Suppose you rummage on the sofa."

She hurried over and made her way through a score of packages. There was a book for Miss Levinson, and gifts for a dozen others.

"This one isn't marked," she said, holding it aloft. "Is it mine?"

"No," he replied, "those are gloves for Mack. I wanted to show I appreciated his bringing back that coat."

Finally she found it—a large box marked with her name. She opened it breathlessly and held up a child's fur set, a muff and neckpiece in beaver.

"Oh, Mr. Gilchrist," she protested feebly. "Oh, you oughtn't!" She tried them on and gave a mirror.

"They're beautiful," she went on rapturously. "They're the beautiful set I've ever seen. I've wanted a set like this always. I never was so happy before in my life."

The tears started again, but he held up an admonitory finger and they turned to laughter.

COACH GAINS UNIQUE RECORD AS DIRECTOR

Gil Dobie Has Spent 17 Years
in Building Football
Elevens

HAS CONFIDENCE

Secret of Success Shown by Absolute Precision as in
Military Drill

New York, Nov. 26.—A unique football coach with a remarkable record is Gilmore Dobie, now serving his seventeenth year as a builder of successful football teams, the last four of which he has lifted Cornell to the pinnacle of gridiron glory.

In the 16 years prior to 1923, Dobie-coached elevens won 81 victories, scored three ties and were defeated but three times rolling up a grand total of 2,931 points as against the 252 for their opponents. And, as this season has witnessed other Dobie victories and the scoring of more than 200 points by his Cornell eleven, his list of triumphs now is close to 90 and the total points scored by his teams is well over the 3,000 mark.

As "Gloomy Gil" he is known and referred to by eastern football writers, and that sobriquet is made the subject of a sketch appearing in a recent issue of the Cornell Alumni News.

The article takes issue with stories which have depicted Dobie as a morose, and somewhat profane, individual. It states that while he can "cuss" on occasions and does, he "cusses out" the play and not the players. It adds his players have unbounded confidence in him and that the faculty agree he is an inspirational leader.

Began Career

Dobie began his coaching career in 1905 at Minneapolis High School. The next year he became coach of North Dakota Agricultural College, and in 1908 he signed as head coach at the University of Washington, serving in that capacity to 1916. In 1917 he became coach at Annapolis, and remained at the Naval Academy until 1920 when he was signed by Cornell. In that period Georgetown, which defeated his 1919 Navy team 6 to 0; Dartmouth which defeated his 1920 Cornell team, 14 to 3, and Pennsylvania, which defeated that same team, 28 to 0, have been the only institutions to boast a victory over "Gloomy Gil."

The secret of the success of the Dobie system of football play has been described as follows:

"Dobie's coaching method, or rather the style of play he develops, has the peculiar quality of absolute precision that goes with definite cadence, not unlike that of a crack drill squad going through the manual of arms. The marvelous thing about it is that it goes ahead unerringly in the midst of the confusion of charging lines and strenuous physical combat.

"On a given play each member of the team has definite duties to perform in a perfect routine and he takes his three steps in one direction and two in another as infallibly and accurately as if there were no one else on the field."

REMEMBER NEBRASKA

"Remember Nebraska." That is sure to be the battle cry of Notre Dame's football team next year. For two successive seasons Nebraska has spoiled Notre Dame's chances of being named the best football team in the country. Prior to the Nebraska contests the experts were shipping the title of champion to Notre Dame, only to have the Cornhuskers muss up the dope.

Much of the glory for the fine showing of Nebraska on the gridiron must go to Head Coach Fred Dawson and his able assistant, Henry Schulte. In their college days Dawson starred at Princeton and Schulte at Michigan.

ILLINOIS AND MICHIGAN TIE IN STANDINGS

Divide Honors in Western
"Big Ten" Football This
Year; Gophers Fourth

Chicago, Nov. 26.—The curtain was rung down on the 1923 football season Saturday with Michigan and Illinois sharing the championship laurels. Last year, Michigan and Iowa divided the honors.

Michigan with a crippled team, maintained its unsullied record and its claim to first honors by winning its fourth victory of the season, defeating Minnesota, 19 to 0, while Illinois won its fifth victory by virtue of Britton's toe and Grange's fleet legs, beating Ohio State 9 to 0.

Minnesota, the only other team who started its game Saturday with a chance at the championship, could have won only in case both Illinois and Michigan had been beaten. The Gophers, with two victories, one defeat and a tie, wound up in fourth position in the percentage column, Chicago with its five victories and one defeat, slipping into third place.

STUDENTS MAY WIN PRIZES IN CONTEST

Chemical Foundation Essay
Contest Announced; N. D.
Students May Compete

Dr. G. A. Abbott of the University of North Dakota has been appointed chairman of a committee to conduct the Francis P. Garvin national essay contest in North Dakota, and will select others to act on the committee, according to information here.

The prize contest is instituted by the American Chemical society, the prizes being awarded by Francis P. Garvin, president of the Chemical Foundation, and his wife as a memorial to their daughter.

Under the plan for the contest, school children of all secondary and high schools may compete during the school year of 1923-24. Essays on six subjects will be judged. There will be six winners in each state, and from this list and similar lists of other states the final winners will be chosen. Each winner in each state will get a $20 gold piece and a certificate. The final six national winners will get free tuition and $500 a year for four years for a course in ale or assar. The national committee hopes that in addition state prizes will be provided within the states.

The subjects for the essays are: Relation of chemistry to health and disease, relation of chemistry to enrichment of life, relation of chemistry to agriculture and forestry, relation of chemistry to national defense, relation of chemistry to the home, relation of chemistry to the development of industries and resources in the writer's state.

To aid the essay contestants, a set of books is being placed in leading libraries, and books may be secured from the American Chemical society, Munson building, New York.

Insurance Experts To Tell People Way To Live Long

New York, Nov. 26.—Subjects of human interest will hold first place at the 17th annual convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, to be held in this city December 6 and 7. There will be presented facts and figures of current experience among the life insurance companies as to what diseases are killing policyholders and how some of those causes, particularly high blood pressure diseases, can at least be reduced. While this subject will be discussed from business and economic angles, it is expected to develop, incidentally, a sentimental appeal to the individual with his desire for longer life.

Edward D. Duffield, president of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, Newark, N. J., will preside at all sessions of the convention. Life insurance executives, representing 95 percent of the fifty-five billion dollars of old line life protection now outstanding in companies domiciled in practically every state of the Union, are expected to be in attendance. Canadian life insurance companies also will be represented. Federal, state and provincial officials and educators, economists and business men will join in this two-day conference on various national problems.

Farmers Find Turkeys Profitable

Hazleton, Nov. 26.—Turkeys were the big item of the Hazleton market last week, and nearly every farmer who comes to town seems to have a load of them on his wagon or car. There were more than four tons of dressed turkeys shipped out of Hazleton for the week. This means that farmers are realizing how profitable a side line of this kind on the farm can become.

The birds brought in average about ten to twelve pounds and bring the farmer an average of about $3.50 per head live weight. Wm. Gimbel, local buyer, has bought and dressed over 800 birds during the last week, one day paying out to the farmers of this vicinity more than $1,000 for live birds.

CIVILIAN AVIATION HURT BY QUAKE

Tokio, Nov. 26.—The recent disaster has destroyed the organizations of civilian aviation in Japan, at least four concerns having announced they would close partly on account of damages directly sustained in the earthquake, but chiefly owing to suspension of subsidies from the government. Proprietors of two of these concerns announce they will resume business as upholsterers.

The Era of Good King "Tut"

When excavators unearthed the ancient resting place of Tut-ankhamen, they found relics of untold value — beaten gold, works of art — precious stones in lavish profusion. These glowing treasures from the Valley of the Kings point straight back 3000 years to a golden age of luxury.

Yet all the wealth of good King "Tut" could not have bought him a toothbrush, rented a telephone for a day, or purchased a safety razor.

After all, this is really the golden age. We have more to be happy with — keener comforts for our choosing. An infinite variety of things have been developed to smooth the course of life to a degree unknown and unbelievable centuries ago.

Nowadays, new comforts and conveniences slip into our lives almost without our realizing it. We are apt to be rather matter of fact about it all.

And advertising is the instrument that makes most of these things possible. Advertising that has made it simple to make and distribute innumerable products at reasonable prices, has played a leading part in making our lives so eminently easy to live.

Read over the advertisements and try to think what the things you see there would have meant to old King "Tut." Then you will realize what a service and what a convenience advertising is to you.

You are not getting the most out of life
if you overlook the advertising

DRAMATIC MOMENT IN COAST GAME

COACH GAINS
UNIQUE RECORD
AS DIRECTOR

Gil Dobie Has Spent 17 Years
in Building Football
Elevens

Secret of Success Shown by Absolute Precision as in
Military Drill

New York, Nov. 26.—A unique football coach with a remarkable record is Gil Dobie, now serving his seventeenth year as a builder of successful football teams, the last four of which he has lifted Cornell to the pinnacle of gridiron glory.
In the 16 years prior to 1923, Do-bie-coached elevens won 81 victories, scored three ties and were defeated but three times rolling up a grand total of 2,931 points as against the 252 for their opponents. And, as this season has witnessed other Do-bie victories and the scoring of more than 200 points by his Cornell eleven, his list of triumphs now is close to 90 and the total points scored by his teams is well over the 3,000 mark.
As "Gloomy Gil" he is known and referred to by eastern football writers, and that sobriquet is made the subject of a sketch appearing in a recent issue of the Cornell Alumni News.

The article takes issue with stories which have depicted Dobie as a morose, and somewhat profane, individual. It states that while he can "cuss" on occasion, he does, he can "cuss" out the play and not the players. It adds his players have unbounded confidence in him and that the faculty agree he is an inspirational leader.

Began Career
Dobie began his coaching career in 1905 at Minneapolis High School.
The next year he became coach of North Dakota Agricultural College, and in 1908 he signed as head coach
at the University of Washington, serving in that capacity to 1916. In 1917 he became coach at Annapolis, and remained at the Naval Academy until 1920 when he was signed by Cornell. In that period of Georgetown, which defeated his 1919 Navy team
6 to 0, Dartmouth, which defeated his 1920 Cornell team, 14 to 3, and Pennsylvania, which defeated that same team, 28 to 0, have been the only institutions to boast a victory over "Gloomy Gil."

The secret of the success of the Dobie system of football play has been described as follows:
"Dobie's coaching method, or rather the style of play he develops, has the peculiar quality of absolute precision that goes with definite cadence, not unlike that of a crack drill squad going through the manual of arms. The marvelous thing about it is that it goes ahead unerringly in the midst of the confusion of charging lines and strenuous physical combat.
"On a given play each member of the team has definite duties to perform in a perfect routine and he takes his three steps in one direction and two in another as infallibly and accurately as if there were no one else on the field."

"Remember Nebraska."
That is sure to be the battle cry of Notre Dame next year.
For two successive seasons Nebraska has spoiled Notre Dame's chances of being named the best football team in the country.
Prior to the Nebraska contests the experts were slipping the title of champion to Notre Dame, only to have the Cornhuskers muss up the dope.
Much of the glory for the fine showing of Nebraska on the gridiron must go to Head Coach Fred Dawson and his able assistant, Henry Schulte. In their college days Dawson starred at Princeton and Schulte at Michigan.

ILLINOIS AND MICHIGAN TIE
IN STANDINGS

Divide Honors in Western
"Big Ten" Football This
Year; Gophers Fourth

Chicago, Nov. 26.—The curtain was rung down on the 1923 football season Saturday with Michigan and Illinois sharing the championship laurels. Last year, Michigan and Iowa divided the honors.
Michigan with a crippled team, maintained its unsullied record and its claim to first honors by winning its fourth victory of the season, defeating Minnesota, 10 to 0, while Illinois won its fifth victory by virtue of Britton's toe and Grange's fleet legs, beating Ohio State 9 to 0.
Minnesota, the only other team who started its game Saturday with a chance at the championship, could have won only in case both Illinois and Michigan had been beaten. The Gophers, with two victories, one defeat and a tie, wound up in fourth position in the percentage column.
Chicago with its five victories and one defeat, slipping into third place.
Three Ties
The final standing of teams shown

ed three ties, Illinois and Michigan being even for first honors. Iowa and Indiana tying for fifth place although Iowa had three victories and as many defeats while Indiana had but two of each. Indiana shared this honor in the conference despite the fact that it scored but 10 points to its opponents' 85. Wisconsin, with a win, three defeats and a tie, nosed out Ohio State and Purdue for seventh place, the latter teams being tied with one game won and four lost.
Northwestern played six games and lost them all, its position in the cellar going unchanged, although the Purple made a desperate bid to get into the win column Saturday in its game with Iowa, putting up the best struggle of the season, but was defeated, 17 to 14.
Chicago Scores Offense
Chicago's total points score was the largest in the conference with 90 to its opponents' 22. Illinois made 84 points to its opponents' 6, Iowa being the only team to score against the Illinois. Michigan, with 48 points, ended without its goal having been crossed but Iowa and Wisconsin each scored a field goal for a total of six points.
Illinois beat Iowa, Northwestern, Chicago, Wisconsin and Ohio, while Michigan defeated Ohio, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota. The two teams each played Ohio, Iowa and Wisconsin. Illinois beat Iowa, 9 to 6 and Michigan beat the Hawkeyes, 9 to 3. The Wolverines however, beat Ohio 23 to 0 while Illinois won 9 to 0. Illinois defeated Wisconsin 10 to 0 and Michigan beat the Badgers, 6 to 2. In these three games, Illinois made 28 points to its opponents' 6
and Michigan made 38 to its opponents' 6.
"Red" Grange, the Illinois ace and the Western conference wonder of the season was the leading individual scorer with 12 touchdowns made in conference and non-conference games for a total of 72 points, tying the record made last year by Locke of Iowa. Captain Martineau of Minnesota was next with 43 points and behind came Fry of Iowa with 42.
Workman of Ohio State was fourth with 37.

STUDENTS MAY WIN PRIZES
IN CONTEST

Chemical Foundation Essay
Contest Announced; N. D.
Students May Compete

Dr. G. A. Abbott of the University of North Dakota has been appointed chairman of a committee to conduct the Francis P. Garvin national essay contest in North Dakota and will select others to act on the committee,
according to information here.
The prize contest is instituted by the American Chemical society, the prizes being awarded by Francis P.
Garvin, president of the Chemical Foundation, and his wife as a memorial to their daughter.
Under the plan for the contest, school children of all secondary and high schools may compete during the school year of 1923-24. Essays on six subjects will be judged. There will be six winners in each state,
and from this list and similar lists of other states the final winners will be chosen. Each winner in each state will get a $20 gold piece and a certificate. The final six national winners will get free tuition and $500 a year for four years for a course in science or art. The national committee hopes that in addition state prizes will be provided within the states.
The subjects for the essays are:
Relation of chemistry to health and disease, relation of chemistry to enrichment of life, relation of chemistry to agriculture and forestry, relation of chemistry to national defense, relation of chemistry to the development of industries and resources in the writer's state.
To aid the essay contestants, a set of books is being placed in leading libraries, and books may be secured from the American Chemical society, Manson building, New York.

Insurance Experts
To Tell People
Way To Live Long

New York, Nov. 26.—Subjects of human interest will hold first place at the 17th annual convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, to be held in this city December 6 and 7. There will be present elected facts and figures of current experience among the life insurance companies as to what diseases are killing policyholders and how some of those causes, particularly high blood pressure diseases, can at least be reduced. While this subject will be discussed from business and economic angles, it is expected to develop, incidentally, a sentimental appeal to the individual with his desire for longer life.
Edward D. Duffield, president of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, Newark, N. J., will preside at all sessions of the convention. Life insurance executives, representing 95 percent of the fifty-five billion dollars of old line life, protection now outstanding in companies domiciled in practically every state of the Union, are expected to be in attendance. Canadian life insurance companies also will be represented. Federal, state and provincial officials and educators, economists and business men will join in this two-day conference on various national problems.

Farmers Find
Turkeys Profitable

Hazleton, Nov. 26.—Turkeys were the big item of the Hazleton market
last week, and nearly every farmer who comes to town seems to have a load of them on his wagon or car.
There were more than four tons of dressed turkeys shipped out of Hazleton for the week. This means that farmers are realizing how profitable
a side line of this kind on the farm can become.
The birds brought in average about ten to twelve pounds and bring the farmer an average of about $3.50 per head live weight. Wm. Gimbel, local buyer, has bought and dressed over 800 birds during the last week, one day paying out to the farmers of this vicinity more than $1,000 for live birds.

CIVILIAN AVIATION HURT BY QUAKE

Tokio, Nov. 26.—The recent disaster has destroyed the organizations of civilian aviation in Japan, at least four concerns having announced they would close partly on account of damages directly sustained in the earthquake, but chiefly owing to suspension of subsidies from the government. Practically all of the concerns are now in a state of collapse.

DRAMATIC MOMENT IN COAST GAME

Seventy thousand football fans packed the stand to see California and Southern California play their an-
a 38-yard run and the first touchdown of the game. The Berkeley outfit won the game, 13 to 7.

The Era of Good King "Tut"

When excavators unearthed the ancient resting place of Tut-ankhamen, they found relics of untold value—beaten gold, works of art—
precious stones in lavish profusion.
These glowing treasures from the Valley of the Kings point straight back 3000 years to a golden age of luxury.

Yet all the wealth of good King
"Tut" could not have bought him a toothbrush, rented a telephone for a day, or purchased a safety razor.

After all, this is really the golden age. We have more to be happy with —keener comforts for our choosing.
An infinite variety of things have been developed to smooth the course of life to a degree unknown and unbelievable centuries ago.

Nowadays, new comforts and conveniences slip into our lives almost without our realizing it. We are apt to be rather matter of fact about it all.

And advertising is the instrument that makes most of these things possible. Advertising that has made it simple to make and distribute innumerable products at reasonable prices, has played a leading part in making our lives so eminently easy to live.

Read over the advertisements and try to think what the things you see there would have meant to old King
"Tut." Then you will realize what a service and what a convenience advertising is to you.

You are not getting the most out of life
if you overlook the advertising

COUNT TOLSTOY TELLS WHY HE REMAINS HERE

Likes Bismarck, He Tells Kiwanians, as Guest at Noon Luncheon Today

MAKES BRIEF TALK

Count Tolstoy, who lectured in Bismarck Thursday night and has remained here since, told the members of the Kiwanis club at luncheon today what he thinks of Bismarck.

"Why do I remain here? Why, because I like it," said the Count. First, he said, he liked the climate, he was used to it he liked the clean, brisk atmosphere.

Second, he told the Kiwanians, he likes the spirit he has found among the citizens of the city—a spirit of brotherhood.

The next engagement of Count Tolstoy is in Chicago, he said, and he is remaining here until it is necessary to go there.

In a brief talk he told the Kiwanians that the spirit of brotherhood which he had found accentuated in Bismarck is the spirit of America, and the spirit which will help remake the world.

He referred to the national prejudices he said were so evident in Europe.

"America is the richest country in the world," he said, "I hope America will become the moral leader of the world."

He expressed again pleasure he had found in the democratic spirit evident in Bismarck, which he described as a clean, wholesome community.

The Kiwanians celebrated the birthdays of Eric Thorberg and George Shafer, the former's history being told by Dick Tracy and the latter's by Dick Wenzel. Chairman Jack Scott called upon all the members for a Thanksgiving expression. This brought forth commendation for the manner in which A. F. Bradley, secretary of the Association of Commerce and a guest, had carried on the duties of his office, and compliments for the manner in which the city had cared for the teachers' convention.

The spirit of Bismarck, it was said, is emphasized by a Bismarck song which was written by Kiwanian Spencer Boise and is sung frequently in the club. It follows:

Just mark Bismarck,
The liveliest spot we know.
We've got zip and pep and plenty of snap

We're always rearin' to go. Wow!
Just mark Bismarck
We're showing everyone how
Why do you wait, don't hesitate—
Sure

Come over and live with us now.

AT THE MOVIES

"ENEMIES OF WOMEN" GREAT FILM SPECTACLE

One of the most artistic and lavish productions yet made by Cosmopolitan Productions is its film version of Vicente Blasco Ibanez's latest novel, "Enemies of Women," which will be screened for three days at the Eltinge Theatre, beginning today.

Cosmopolitan has made every effort to make "Enemies of Women" one of the most beautiful pictures ever made. It is being distributed by Goldwyn-Cosmopolitan. The action of the picture takes place in Monte Carlo, in Nice, Paris and in Russia.

In order to have the locations entirely accurate, the entire company was sent to Europe and spent six weeks in Monte Carlo, Nice and Paris.

The famous Spanish novelist himself aided Director Alan Crosland in obtaining permission from the authorities of Monte Carlo to take scenes at the Casino, on the terrace of the gardens as well as scenes of the Prince of Monaco's palace. The result is that "Enemies of Women" on the scenic side is a thing of beauty.

The interior sets were made on a lavish scale. These were designed by the noted Viennese artist and designer of theatrical and operatic sets, Joseph Urban. His set for the palace of Prince Lubimoff is one of the most gorgeous ever built for a motion picture. In it the abilities of this master craftsman are revealed at their best. The set of the Prince's villa at Monaco is just as beautiful in its way, but not so big a scale as the palace set. The decorations, costuming and lighting of these scenes were under the direction of Mr. Urban. Many of the gowns worn by Alma Rubens in "Enemies of Women" were created by Poiret in Paris from designs by Mrs. Gretl Thurlow, daughter of Mr. Urban. They were aided by Miss Rubens herself in designing and making the gowns, which are some of the most striking and beautiful ever worn in a motion picture.

John Lynch prepared the scenario of the picture from Blasco Ibanez's novel and succeeded in making a picturesque, colorful and coherent photoplay from it. The picture has had successful runs at the $2 top scale of movies in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Boston and other cities.

The story concerns Prince Michael Fedor Lubimoff who has lived his useless life so fully that there are no thrills left for him. His extravagance, his escapades in his Moscow palace have made him the talk of Europe. To one of his spectacular and enormously arranged receptions comes Alicia, Duchess de Lille, a noted beauty whose reputation for amorous adventures rivals his own.

An unexpected thrill is provided for the guests of this reception when a Cossack officer breaks into the palace and challenges Prince Lubimoff to a duel for the betrayal of his sister. The fight which follows in a snowstorm in the court-yard of the palace is one of the most thrilling, realistic and hard-fought duels ever screened.

From this point on the film is a great spectacle.

Motion picture stars frequently fall into the rut, because they persistently follow the same line of story, and the same type of characterization. Harold Lloyd has proven the fallacy of this belief. In "Why Worry?", his latest Pathemedy entry in the race for popular plaudits, and the feature attraction at the Capitol Theatre Wednesday Lloyd again pursues his own theory that to mix them up is to serve the public best.

"Why Worry?" is as unlike any picture Harold Lloyd has made before, as any two things could be. It is a South American story, strong in fact but with an ever present vein of satire that should prove delightful to the American audience which does not like its entertainment too serious.

The Kiwanians celebrated the birthdays of Eric Thorberg and George Shafer, the former's history being told by Dick Tracy and the latter's by Dick Wenzel. Chairman Jack Scott called upon all the members for a Thanksgiving expression. This brought forth commendation for the manner in which A. F. Bradley, secretary of the Association of Commerce and a guest, had carried on the duties of his office, and compliments for the manner in which the city had cared for the teachers' convention.

NORTH DAKOTA FARMER ASKS RATES SLASH

Says Lower Freight Rate on Grain Products Would Help the Situation

Minneapolis, Nov. 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—A North Dakota farmer on the stand in opening the hearings here told the Interstate Commerce Commission's special investigating committee today that a reduction in freight rates on grain would have a stimulating moral effect, induce the grain growers to remain on the farms and enhance their material possessions.

The state of South Dakota came into the hearing with a plea for greater interstate reductions of freight rates, than granted either Minnesota or North Dakota because of the rates affecting those states.

The hearings are in the so-called Kansas case which is to be completed, probably tomorrow, when the commission's committee is to begin its nation-wide inquiry into rates on grain, grain products and hay. The subject matter of the Kansas case is identical with the proposed general investigation and evidenced added in the Kansas case is to be used in the new investigation, according to Commissioner Esch, who is presiding.

Attorneys for various railroads and representatives of the states of North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas and other states are sitting in the case and participating in cross-examination. According to Mr. Esch, the hearing probably will be completed this week or Saturday when the committee will move to Spokane, Phoenix, Atlanta, Chicago, and Washington.

Matthew Duffy, farmer, residing 40 miles west of Devils Lake, was the first witness called. He was examined by Frank Mithollan, railway commissioner of North Dakota, and cross-examined by Commissioners and attorneys for railroad companies.
